PICTURESQUE SPEECH PACKS HALL AT LEEDS!

People Must Decide Between Selfish Politics and Service, He Declares.

By the Associated Press LEEDS, England, October 21 .-David Lloyd George, the retiring prime minister, speaking at a great meeting of coalition liberals here this afternoon, declared the "bannet of party strife" had been hoisted at the recent meeting of conservatives at the Carlton Club which voted against continuing the coalition.

"It is for the people of this country." he exclaimed, "to decide whether party come first or the nation first. I stand for the people."

Mr. Lloyd George asserted that the combination which had achieved the victory in the late war had been brought to an end not because it had ceased to serve the nation, but because a party was not getting enough out of it.

He then launched into a vigorous defense of his administration in his usual picturesque language.

Given Loud Applause.

The speaker addressed a great meeting of coalition liberals and was greeted with loud applause. The hall seats 3,000 persons, and more than twice that number applied for ad-

"I have sought honestly, sincerely and with it my domanant purpose to serve my native land to the best of my ability," said Mr. Lloyd George, in defending his administrative ac.s.

"In the war the government did everything it could. I am toid: You may have been a very good war minister, but you are no good in peace."

War is not a bad test, and I have done a few things in peace."

Alluding to the United States, Lloyd George said: "The United States of America and ourselves march side by side on the path of peace and international good will.

"If Lord Balfour had not come to the disarmament arrangement with the United States of America you might have had competition in armament and a huge increase in taxation, which would have been crushing."

Some of his pungent utterances were: "The treaty of Versailles has become a charter of liberty to tens of millions of people today.

The conservative party meeting for the election of Mr. Bonar Law as leader will be held Monday afternoon at the Hotel Cecil, the Carlton Club not affording enough room to accommodate the prospective attendance. Expectation continues general that the polling will take place November 18, and it is believed the reconstituted parliament can meet by November 28. As ratification of the Irish treaty is no longer a contentious matter, it is believed it can be disposed of within the specified time, and parliament is likely to rise for its Christmas recess early in December.

AUTHORITIES PREPARE CASE FOR GRAND JURY

Family Affairs Still Center of Interest in Double Slaying Mystery.

BY DAN RING.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., October 21 .- First active steps for the preparation of the Hall-Mills murder case for formal presentation to the grand jury were taken this morning by officials here when they questioned Barbara Tough, seamstress at the Hall home for years and confidant of Mrs. Hall.

The quizzing was for the purpose of obtaining an official statement as to the wedding of Mrs. Hall, then Miss Frances Stevens, to Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall on July 10, 1911, and circumstances surrounding the wedding.

Miss Tough was asked whether Henry H. Stevens, brother of Mrs. Hall, was in the city on that day and if so, why he did not attend the wedding. Another question was as to whether Henry had actually remained away from his sister, paying no visit to her and her husband since the wedding, coming into the Hall home for the first time on the day of the rector's funeral. It is understood that these questions are being asked for the purpose of checking up on the attitude of Stevens to his brother-inlaw, who was slain on the night of September 14, at the Phillips farm, with Mrs. Eleanor Mills, a choir leader in his church.

Among the questions prepared for Miss Tough, it is understood, are the following:

"Why did not Henry give away his sister when he was the oldest brother, and the one naturally expected to do this in the wedding ceremony? "Did Mrs. Stevens, mother of Mrs. Hall, give her daughter in matrimony and immediately leave the wedding party?

ding party?

"Was Henry Stevens in town on the night of the wedding?

"Was he at the church?

"Was he at the church?

"Was Miss Sallie Peters, friend of Mrs. Hall, the only bridal attendant?"

Four others are expected to be questioned today. On the basis of their statements, it is reported, an indictment will be asked of the grand fury Monday in Somerville.

The Hall-Mills murder case will go to the grand jury formally Monday.

This was definitely ascertained today.

Beckman arrived during the early after-afternoon and there followed another.

Newspaper men got their first glimpse of the bloody clothes of Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills when Prosecutor Beekman exposed them. The clothes point rather definitely to the belief that the murder occurred where the bodies were found. Mrs. Mills had worn a blue velvet turban with a turned-up veil. In the crease of the brim was a blood stain about three inches in diameter. It was on the left side.

There was no bullet hole in the hat. The dress was of blue lawn with red polka dots, piped with red ribbon, which Mrs. Mills is said to have received from Dr. Hall on Christmas bundles. Mrs. Mills had told her next-door neighbor, Miss Millie Ople, about this. The shoes were well worn brown oxfords and the stockings were slik and black. A brown woolen scarf contained a pocket where letters were sticking out. The scarf was blood-drenched powder puff, which Prosecutor Beekman declared was not in the pocket when the scarf was found. The rector's clothing included a white Panama hat, with a wide band, and a suit of gray and black worsted.
